Verse 1

Lord we've turned from living waters,
Tried to quench our thirst with sin
And now weary, parched and yearning,
Lord we turn to you our King.
Spirit help our hearts to taste now
That the Lord, our God is good
And for me, for me a sinner,
There is blessing in his blood

Verse 2

We have run from you like fools, Lord
Filled with love of self and pride
Leaving truth that you have taught us
We have wandered far and wide
But your mercy does not leave us
And your love does not depend
On our works but your work finished
That will keep us to the end

Verse 3

Lord our lives have not reflected
The new life you died to win
We have lived as slaves to evil
Not as children of the king
But your promise does not falter
And your covenant is sure
And when Christ returns to claim us
We'll be spotless, blameless pure.

Verse 4

Lord we long for your appearing
When you take your rightful place
When the lame will run to meet you
And the blind will see your face
O lord may that day come quickly
When your children you will bring
To the home that you have made us
There to feast with you our king.
